As We See It

By PAT POLLOCK

We feel that Mr. Hal Ulrici's plea for better attendance at the drama department's productions was well timed. The turnouts at this semester's two plays, "Angel Street" and "Everyman," left much to be desired, and must have been awfully disheartening to the casts who put in so much of their time and effort in day and night rehearsals.

It was disheartening, too, to learn that by Tuesday only $13.10 of the necessary $40 has been paid toward damages to Modesto rooters' bus. Although students may argue that they didn't personally tear up their transportation to the game, it's a case of sharing the responsibility to get the $40 paid. Obviously, it's impossible to single out individuals who did this or that to the bus, and to charge everyone an equal amount is the only fair way to settle the thing.

The commission's retention of the Block "H" as our official emblem seems a sensible decision. After all, it isn't a ruling that can't be changed easily—that's why it was made a by-law rather than a constitutional amendment.

The college changed its name only two years ago, and the time (Continued On Page 3)

June Graduates Check Records

Mr. Henry Cassady has advised all students, especially those in lower division, who plan to graduate in June to check with their advisors and deans to see if they have met requirements for graduation. He pointed out the importance of this action in the procedure for graduation.

He also emphasized that students with high school deficiencies ought not plan to graduate from junior college in just two years. He said these students should plan to take at least one or two semesters in making up the deficiencies.

Mr. Cassady said, "It's what you take in college and not how long you spend that determines when you are to graduate." He told that more and more students are spending more than the usual two years at the junior colleges.

English, Business Tests Tomorrow

English placement tests will be given tomorrow, January 21, in the Little Theater from 9 to 12, it was announced recently. In order to enroll in any college transfer English course the student must pass this test tomorrow or at a later time.

From 1 to 3 tomorrow afternoon the business department tests will also be given for prospective business course students.

"Winslow Boy" in Little Theater February 9, 10, 11

"The Winslow Boy" will take the stage of the Little Theater here on the nights of February 9, 10, and 11, with the curtain set for 8:15. Done in modern dress, the play tells of a fight for justice in the English courts.

Georgie Corbett, in his first role on the Hartnell stage, is cast as the boy, Ronnie Winslow, a royal naval cadet at Osborne. Jacquie Day portrays his older sister, Catherine, an ardent supporter of people's rights. Arthur, the father who just won't give up the fight, is done by Richard Cimino. His wife, Grace, is portrayed by Phyllis Williams.

Dickie Winslow, a noisy Oxford undergraduate, is characterized by Dewey Chambers. As for the men in Catherine's life, there is John Watherstone, who is otherwise known around campus as Dick Rohrbacher. Then there's Desmond Curry, an athlete gone to pot—that's Dean Stamatopoulos. Sir Robert Morton, the eminent barrister, is done by Bill Holm, who returned to the campus for the part. A lady reporter, Miss Barnes, is portrayed by Marguerite Sander, while Jim Smith appears briefly as the photographer, her rather resigned partner-in-crime. Virginia Vierra serves as the maid, Violet.

Blocking rehearsals of this prize-winning four-act play by Terence Rattigan were completed this week. According to Mr. Hal H. Ulrici, director, this production is indeed one of the more difficult shows to do. Also the fact that a number of newcomers appear in the production tends to make it a little more difficult in working toward a professional basis for the play.

Another difficulty encountered is the acquisition and mastery of the English dialect, and a consistency of it by the cast members. Because of its four acts, a greater amount of ground must be covered (Continued On Page 2)

Commission Retains Block "H"

Another addition to the by-laws of the student constitution was adopted this week by the commission, officially establishing Hartnell's colors, insignie and emblem.

The Block "H" was retained as the school's official emblem, rather than a proposed "HC."

Article VII reads:

Section 1. The colors of Hartnell College shall be maroon and gold.

Section 2. The Panther shall be the official insignie of the college.

Section 3. The official emblem shall be a Block "H." The "H" shall be maroon on a field of gold.

Mr. Richard Carlisle spoke at Tuesday's meeting on the advantages of establishing "HC" as the college's permanent emblem. He feels, he said, that the double letter would be more distinctive, and asked commissioners to think in terms of a permanent, long-range policy.

Student Body President George Miljanich replied that the commission intends to write an official emblem into the constitution next semester, which should give anyone interested in changing it adequate time to formulate an idea for a permanent emblem. He emphasized that this measure was taken only to establish a uniform policy in the matter of the emblem.

Commissioner of Finance Evelyn Temmermand, reporting on Monday's budget committee meeting, recommended that a letter be sent to Coach Ed Adams advising him of the overdrawn athletic insurance account. It will be recommended that Adams investigate a better insurance plan for next year. Miss Temmermand said the overdrawn amount will be considered a prepaid item and taken out of next year's budget.

Miss Temmermand also reported that only $13.10 had been collected to pay for the $40 damages to the Modesto rooters' bus.

All future requests from clubs wishing to solicit advertising must be cleared through Public Relations Director Stuart Dufour and Tom Ford, commissioner of public relations, the commission ruled.

This grew out of the Canterbury Club's recent solicitation of advertising for basketball programs without the previous consent of the commission.

U.G.C. President Barbara Johnson will be asked to attend next week's meeting to explain why Hartnell clubs were asked to contribute toward securing Dr. Eve- (Continued On Page 3)

Ski Club Dance In Cafeteria After Modesto Game

"Snowflake Fantasy," the big Ski Club dance, is to be held tonight in the cafeteria following the basketball game with Modesto.

According to Don Mignola, dancing will be in the cafeteria and adjoining hall to the music of a local orchestra. Also, says Don, coat checking will be offered for five cents.

Chairmen of the dance are Don Mignola and Bruce McCallum. Helping on the committees are: refreshments, Dick Johnson; decorations, Pat Pollock; music, John Alsop; publicity, Dewey Chambers and Gloria Scroggs; tickets, Al Janes; clean-up, Francis Scilacci.

Tickets will be on sale during the game and at the dance for 50 cents stag and 75 cents couple.

Women Students Hear Dr. Berger

To be happily and successfully married, you have to be successfully adjusted. This was the main point of Dr. Evelyn Miller Berger's address before the women of Hartnell College last Monday afternoon in the Little Theater.

Doctor Berger, a consulting psychologist in Oakland, drew an appreciative reaction from her audience when she declared, "One way or another we're always on the prowl."

In Doctor Berger's opinion, everyone has resentments, whether or not he knows it. As she said, "We are all walking bundles of resentment."

Perhaps one point left the audience confused. At one time Doctor Berger said that everyone has neuroses. Later she warned that under no circumstances should one get married to cure his or her neuroses.

Women at Hartnell have a wonderful opportunity of looking men over, according to the speaker. She feels that the young women shouldn't fail to play the field a little bit and get acquainted with different types of men. And above all, the girls should "see that the boys like you as a person."

Sophs to Present "Mable's Fable"

"Mable's Fable," a story of an actress who dreams and remembers all the activities she participated in at Hartnell College, will be the title of the annual Sophomore Show when it is presented next semester.

The show, written and to be directed by Dewey Chambers, will set a precedent by having a plot or theme. The outline of the play has already been written, Chambers said, but most of the work remains to be done.

Girdner, Nelson Attend Meet

Mr. Jerry Girdner, dean of guidance and counseling, and Mr. Dennis Nelson of Hartnell A. and M., are in San Luis Obispo today attending a counselors' visitation day at Cal Poly.

The college is sponsoring the day to give high school and junior college counselors first-hand information regarding the various departments. Information will also be given regarding available occupational opportunities for Cal Poly graduates.

Program for the visiting counselors includes a morning tour of the campus, luncheon in the cafeteria and an afternoon discussion period.

Yale Graduate To Teach Here

Mr. Harry M. Davidson, a graduate of Yale University, will substitute for Miss Faith Fraser, who has obtained a leave of absence for the spring semester, President J. B. Lemos reported.

Mr. Davidson obtained his A.B. degree at the University of California, where he majored in public speaking. He majored in drama and received his master's degree at Yale University.

His teaching experience consists of one year at Livingston High School at Merced and one semester at Russell Sage College at Troy, N.Y. He taught speech and drama at both institutions.

Mr. Davidson is married and served as an officer in the U.S. Army from 1941 to 1945.

Miss Fraser, a writer who has sold more than 100 manuscripts, wants to continue her studies in writing, she said. Her plans are to attend either the University of Southern California or the University of California at Los Angeles. She will stay with friends at Westwood during her leave.

CAMPUSOLOGY

By BOB WHITE

Richard Cimino resented last week's crack about "Corky," the cocker spaniel, threatening his solid position as leading dramatic star at Hartnell. So Cimino challenged "Corky" to a duel. The "weapons" were to be each's ability at Shakespearean interpretation. So as to not put "Corky" at too much of a disadvantage, Cimino said that he was willing to do the interpretation in "Dog Latin."

"Corky," by the way, has only 59 more units to go before he graduates from Hartnell. It's official that each member of the "Dither" cast gets one unit of credit.

None of the fellows can figure out why they were getting such dirty looks from the women after they came out of the assembly last Monday. They wonder what Dr. Evelyn Miller Berger's speech was all about, anyway?

The stuffed bald eagle mentioned here last week turned out to have plenty of "hair" on its head. Pictures of the bald eagle, which is the national emblem of the United States, by the way, always show them with white feathers on their heads. But ours has brown feathers. The dictionary says that they get the white feathers after they are a few years old. However, the eagle Hartnell received may not be a bald eagle at all. It could be a "Great Hairy" eagle or some other type. The point could probably be cleared up by Mr. Robinson, who lives in room 11. That's where "Baldy" is roosting at the present time.

Frank Armbruster, the Flying Club's boy, received an offer to go on a vaudeville roadshow tour. It seems that Frank is quite adept on one of those one-wheeled gadgets called a monocycle. When not buzzing around in the club's Piper or scooting about on one wheel, Frank's favorite pastime is telling the story about the sparrow who staggered out of the men's gym "cussin' like crazy." The poor bird got mixed up in a badminton game with Gerald Skillicorn.

Mr. Karl Bengston told a story in Economics I-A which many of the fellows will be inclined to agree with. It was about two boys, one who bought beer, and one who purchased bonds. The moral of the tale was, buy beer instead of bonds.

Mr. Henry Cassady, lower division dean, is mighty proud of his new, little, partitioned office in room 13. It is painted a light cream and has frosted glass windows all around. Perhaps if you are real nice to Mr. Cassady, he will let you see the inside of his new cage.

Last week there was a story about a miniature panther being reduced in price. According to Phyllis Williams, Sears, Roebuck cares even less if Hartnell's feelings are hurt. She says that Sears lowered the price on their head scarves, the ones with the Panther and the name Hartnell on them, from 49 cents to 10 cents, just to get rid of them.

Panther Sentinel Out Again Feb. 10

February 10 will be the issue date for the next copy of Panther Sentinel, it was announced recently by Mr. Stuart Dufour, journalism instructor. The issue scheduled for next week will be cancelled because of finals, and the registration activities will necessitate cancelling the issue of the following week.

songs and having audience participation entertainment between acts.

Help will be needed from actors, musicians, and stage technicians. Chambers said, "I will be glad to hear any ideas people have to offer," he stated.

The go-ahead signal was given the show last week by Don Keeney, sophomore president. The show is an annual tradition to raise money for the sophomore class.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Pat:

I have been harboring a "gripe" for quite a while and before I try to explain myself, I would like to state that in expressing my personal opinion, perhaps I am also expressing the opinion of countless other students. I am referring to the "noon-day battle" that one has to wage in order to get a seat in order to eat one's lunch due to the competition afforded by the avid canasta and poker players that seem to congregate in the cafeteria during the noon rush.

Please do not get me wrong by thinking that I am one of those "kill-joy" individuals. Other than necking as a parlor sport, I can't think of a more pleasant pastime than to enjoy a good game of seven-card-stud, but there is definitely a time and place for BOTH! In my opinion, with the existing situation in the cafeteria at noon, card players should not deprive their fellow students places to eat by taking up tables and chairs.

Paralleling my "gripe" I also offer a solution as a factor in balancing the equation made obvious by this letter: by asking that card players refrain from playing cards in the cafeteria during the noon rush. I sincerely hope that this deplorable situation will be rectified in the near future.

Yours very sincerely,

An Engineering Student
Who Is Fighting a Losing Battle for a Seat.

New Chemistry IA To Be Available

CAMPUS CLOTHES

By ROBIN LOWRY

Rather than ramble on this week about who is wearing what, and why, I'll give you the low-down on these crazy fads that take over our campus as well as other campuses.

We have them here at Hartnell, but no one ever notices them till you get right down to sitting in the door of the "caf" and watch the members of the female and male species come and go. You can't go wrong 'cause everyone goes into the cafeteria—it's the fad.

These new-fangled belts the girls wear, for instance. Everything from a dog leash to a 4 or 5-inch leather studded thing that sort of resembles a belt. Then there are those necklaces the girls wear. The object is to get the heaviest chain and the heaviest doo-dad to hang on it. Long pearls are fading out and so are scatter pins.

It's the same all over the country, too. In Denver, Colo., the fellas all have motor scooters. In Dallas, Texas, the boys not only peroxide their hair, but their eyebrows, too. What beats all though, is that in Hollywood some fellas have gone so far as to dye their hair green. I guess the idea of that is to have their hair match these new pastel shirts that are now popular. I have seen them in pink, lavender and other colors.

In San Francisco, the fellows are wearing Robin Hood hats, and all the fellows and girls are playing the "uke" and banjo which teams up nicely with the Charleston, which is almost replacing La Raspa. This all strikes a familiar note around here, doesn't it?

Billy Eckstine, Frankie Lane, and Vic Damone are platter favorites; "That Lucky Ole Sun" has been put to bed, right along with bee-bop. South Pacific still rates a favorite, and "Wha' happened" is just about gone. French fries dipped in ketchup are "it" even in polite company.

In Seattle the fellows wear their belts buckled in back, and in Wilmington the gals are wearing dresses made from ordinary feed and flour bags.

For the girls, ballet shoes and moccasins are definitely out; suede and pixie shoes have replaced them.

Superintendents Hold Conclave

About 30 district school superintendents were at Hartnell College last Wednesday when they had their regular business meeting. The superintendents came from schools as far south as King City and as far north as Gilroy and Santa Cruz.

Dinner was served to the group by Miss Mildred Novotny's home economics classes, and the menu included pear and cream cheese salad, baked ham with raisin sauce, stuffed baked potatoes, string beans, carrots, yeast rolls, relishes, coffee, and black-bottom pie.

Model of Plane Built by Flyers

Flying Club member Bob Childs is building a model of the Stinson Voyager, the plane which the club hopes to buy sometime this year, he said.

To be used for display purposes, the plane will have a 4 foot 11 inch wingspan. Later, the club hopes to build a model of the Piper Cub, which is now owned by the group, according to Childs.

At a club meeting held at the home of Frank Armbruster, club president, last week, a number of things were discussed and plans for the immediate future were made. A new accounting system and a recording tachometer will be put into use, it was decided. The tachometer will accurately measure the number of hours the plane is flown and insure a motor checkup at the proper time, Mr. Carlisle, club board member, pointed out.

Another point considered at the meeting was the possibility of accepting three new categories of members into the club. They include: persons who have their own plane, alumni, and cases of honorable membership. These would all be ways to keep the club membership large, Mr. Carlisle explained.

The option held by the Flying Club on the Stinson plane owned at present by Mr. G. Darwin Peavy has not yet been taken up, but is under serious consideration by the members, Frank Armbruster stated. The Stinson Voyager is now in the repair shop at Hartnell A. and M., but will be out in two or three weeks.

The Piper Cub plane purchased by the club in February, 1949, has just undergone an extensive overhaul at the A. and M. shop, he said. A light checkup is given the plane after 25 hours in the air, and a more detailed repair job following 100 hours on the motor.

The club paid back a student body loan of $500 this week, Mr. Carlisle said. The loan was made to the club in February, 1949. The student commission had asked that the loan be paid because the student body was running short on funds.

Canterbury Club Handles Publicity

Canterbury Club will sell basketball programs at this evening's as well as tomorrow evening's games with Stockton and Modesto, respectively, according to Marge Mathers, chairman of the printing of the programs. Marge and her committee are planning to have programs for all the remaining games of the season.

Newman Club Plans Dance

Main speaker at the last Newman Club meeting was Hartnell student Don Stoffey, who spoke on "Evolution to the Christian." The meeting was conducted by Harold Carrota, vice-president of the club.

Following the speech, the members and Father Patrick Deegan discussed and commented on the topic. Bill Casalegno, chairman of the club dance committee, and his committee told of the progress on their dance for February 24, following the Hartnell-M.P.C. basketball game. The dance has been dubbed "The Dago Dip" by the committee, and it promises to be a big affair.

SKI CLUB PLANS TRIP TO DONNER ON FINALS WEEK END

Hartnell plans the second ski trip of the year for the week end after finals. The excursion is officially set for January 28, 29, and 30. For these three days students must pay $10 for transportation, room and board. If any person wishes to travel up for the Friday, also, he is required to pay an extra $3.

There is room for 20 women, including Miss Luella Wiens who is to be the women's chaperon for the four days spent at Donner. At present there is room for only 20 men, but if necessary, room can be made for 10 more at the Santa Cruz Ski Lodge. Both men and women will room in dormitories.

Probably there will be some type of skating, and the skiing should be excellent in view of the recent snowstorms that have occurred in the Sierras.

Next week Hartnell may have a representative in the N.C.J.C.C. skiing competition in Mr. Guido Gysler. Mr. Gysler is from Sweden and is taking orders on a famous line of ski boots at very reasonable prices that will be cut for Ski Club members. He also plans to instruct the Ski Club on the Saturday that the club will be at Donner.

President Don Mignola has announced that the Ski Club is planning to arrange trips for February 11, 12, and 13. He plans also to get reservations on March 4, 5, and 25, 26 at Yosemite and Sugar Bowl.

All who are at a loss as to the location of Donner Summit, please consult the map on the billboard in front of the main office.

Tonight the Hartnell quintet plays its first conference home game against the Modesto J.C. Pirates. The Pirates are even up in league play. Modesto dropped a six-point decision to the undefeated San Mateo Bulldogs and then rebounded to whip Menlo Junior College, 48-35. Tomorrow the locals host the Stockton Cubs. Stockton defeated Menlo, 59-48, but fell before the rampaging San Mateans, 58-57.

SPORTS COMMENTS

By PHIL TRINE

N.C.J.C. Conference basketball finished its first week end of play with the San Francisco Rams and the San Mateo Bulldogs remaining as the only undefeated cage teams in the southern division. San Francisco encountered little trouble in downing Hartnell and Monterey Peninsula College with Kev Duggan and Tippy McLaughlin leading the scorers. San Mateo appears to be the quintet that will dispute the Rams for their second straight title. The Bulldogs opened their season with close decisions over Modesto J.C., 56-50, and Stockton J.C., 58-57. Bob Peterson clinched the overtime victory with a free throw. Marv Rector paced the winners with 18 points. Howard Bern, rangy Stockton forward, chalked up 27 points for the individual high scoring effort over the week end.

Hartnell, minus Fred Willson and with only limited help from Don Keeney, was no match for San Francisco Rams, defending champions. Before the locals could move into high gear, McLaughlin and Duggan teamed to cash in on four field goals. It wasn't until Herb Withers countered eight minutes into the first half that the Panthers scored. The loss of Willson and Keeney was keenly felt and when the Panthers entertain the Rams on their home court, the result is expected to be radically different.

Santa Rosa provided the upset of the circuit when they stunned the Placer College Spartans, recent winners of the Modesto College Tournament, by tripping them up, 57-46, on last Friday night.

Panthers Week-end Host To Modesto, Stockton in League Games

Tonight at 8 p.m. the Panthers play their first home league game of the season when they engage Modesto. This will be the first time this season Hartnell has played a conference foe in Salinas and it will be a fair test of the locals' strength.

After losing their opener to City College of San Francisco, the Panthers will be striving to break into the league's win column with this, their second conference encounter.

Volleyball Ends, Basketball Begins

The 1949-50 season of intramural volleyball was wound up by the champion Hawaiian team when they edged the Faculty in a post-season exhibition. The three games of the set were all hotly contested. The scores were 15-11, 15-12 in favor of Hawaiians, but the last game was won by Faculty, 16-14.

The Hawaiians, consisting of Ken Dias, captain and manager, Frank Paz, Bob Swan, James Miyasato, Paul Lewis, Ralph Gora, William Maguire, James Akimo, and Mervyn Ferreira, had a completely successful season with 10 wins and no ties or losses.

Their closest competition was given by the Hawks and Colts, each with 8 wins, 1 loss, and 1 tie. Following these teams were the Huskies and Physics, each with 6 wins and 4 losses.

The Hawaiians were presented with their gold awards during the

NCJC Football Gains Ground In Bowl Civil War

In a recent article in the San Francisco Chronicle, Mr. Rube Samuelsen said Northern California junior colleges have gained ground in their fight for better representation in the annual Little Rose Bowl football game. According to tradition, the game each year is a test between the finest eastern and western junior college football teams to decide the national champion.

However, the junior colleges of Northern California say they are discriminated against consistently in the selection of the western team. Aid is not far away, it seems, for at a meeting held recently it was decided that:

(a) There will definitely be no Northern California-Southern California J.C. all-star game instead of the usual game.

(b) It was recommended by the state jaycee federation that the western representative should be selected by a play-off between the best northern and southern junior college football team.

The Pirates have a good team, though possibly not up to the average strength that they usually display. They lost their opening game to the powerful San Mateo team, 56-50, but made a good recovery in beating Menlo, 48-35. After their stunning loss to San Francisco, the Panthers will be definite underdogs to the valley team.

Tomorrow night the Panthers will play their second home league game when they engage the Stockton Cubs. Stockton has a team painfully similar to the San Francisco team—very tall. This will be a definite advantage over the Panthers as was shown in the game against the peninsula boys.

At the first of the season the Stockton team was supposed to have a wonder team, but they have not quite stacked up to expectations, losing to the surprisingly strong San Mateo team. Their second game was with Menlo whom they dumped, 59-48.

At this moment it looks as though the southern division of the N.C.J.C.C. will be dominated by San Mateo and San Francisco, while the northern division will be paced by Santa Rosa and Placer.

League standings at the moment are:

	W	L
San Mateo	2	0
San Francisco	2	0
Modesto	1	1
Stockton	1	1
Hartnell	0	1
Monterey	0	1
Menlo	0	2

assembly last Friday by President J. B. Lemos.

Coach Jess Regli has announced that the intramural basketball season will begin February 6. The schedule for games has been completed for the eight teams organized. At the end of the season, which ends in April, the three top teams will play off for the first and second place awards.

Teams and their managers registered for the 1950 season are:

Gold Bricks, Webb; Bow Wows, Bettencourt; Vultures, Olson; Sand Dabs, Trine; Main Liners, Harder; Farmers, Copley; Mighty Mites, Codioli; Hawaii, Swan.
